I came to The Collett School in Jan 2014 after teaching in the Speech and Language Unit at a local mainstream primary school. I have lived locally in Hemel Hempstead for the past 25 years bringing up my family and supporting the local community.

I have always championed the entitlement of vulnerable children and I feel privileged to be a part of The Collett's journey to success. The future development of the school is both exciting and inspirational and it is easy to see why it is the choice of many parents and carers. We have achieved so many great things in a short period of time, including our amazing building projects and a good to outstanding Ofsted.

I love the diversity that the children and families bring to The Collett and the importance that we place on developing the whole child whilst not taking our focus away from the importance of learning and the development of essential life skills. The Collett is such a happy environment for everyone who learns and works here, both children and adults, and every day presents a new and exciting challenge. I am looking forward to the years ahead!
